

World Climate Zones

The world has many climate zones. Color them in on the map below.

Which zones are the United States located in?

Climates are based on temperature maximum/minimum and temperature range, as well as total and seasonal rainfall.

Polar Cold and dry year round. 	Arid Hot and dry year round. 	Tropical Hot and wet year round.
------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Which climate zone would you like to live in? Why?